

1. A dance group decide they are going to use the Internet to promote their work. Describe one legal implication the dance group need to consider when adding soundtracks to their videos. [2]

Soundtracks may be copyrighted by their creator and permission should be sought before it is used

2. A band called RandomBits removes their permission for their songs to be streamed. The company removes all the songs belonging to RandomBits from their service. Identify the law with which the company are complying. [1]

The copyright designs and patents act

3. The Government Communications Headquarters (GCHQ) is responsible for monitoring communications in order to keep the UK secure. A large part of its job involves trying to break into encrypted messages.

(b) GCHQ has to operate within the law. Describe how the law allows GCHQ to monitor communications. [2]

Laws allow GCHQ to track people that they suspect to be a national security threat
